Do Now <<7:00->>

CSSA review
Which design change helps a visitor most?

Today’s goal

-Identify a site’s primary purpose
-Use a specific CSSA choice to explain how its design supports that purpose.

CSSA

Content: what's on a site
Structure: how it's laid out
Style: how it looks
Accessibility: how people can use it

<<0:00+>>

Purpose

What does the visitor come to do?

The purpose helps explain the design choices.

Three common purposes

<<0:00+>>

Information: learn or find answers
Entertainment: enjoy an experience
Sales: buy a product or service

Checkpoint

<<1:30->>

Information

Purpose: learn or find answers

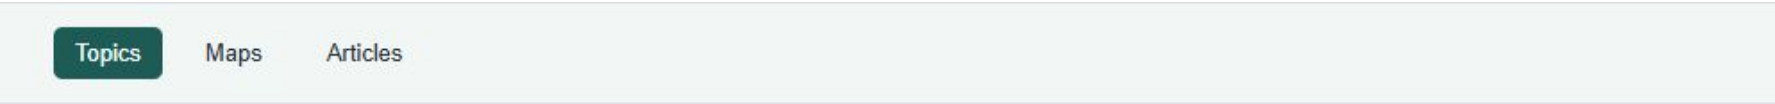

Examples: Wikipedia, weather websites, school information pages

<<0:00+>>

Information design

Clear headings organize a topic.
Search helps visitors find an answer.
Articles explain ideas in detail.

Evidence and explanation <<0:00+>>

A topic menu is Structure.

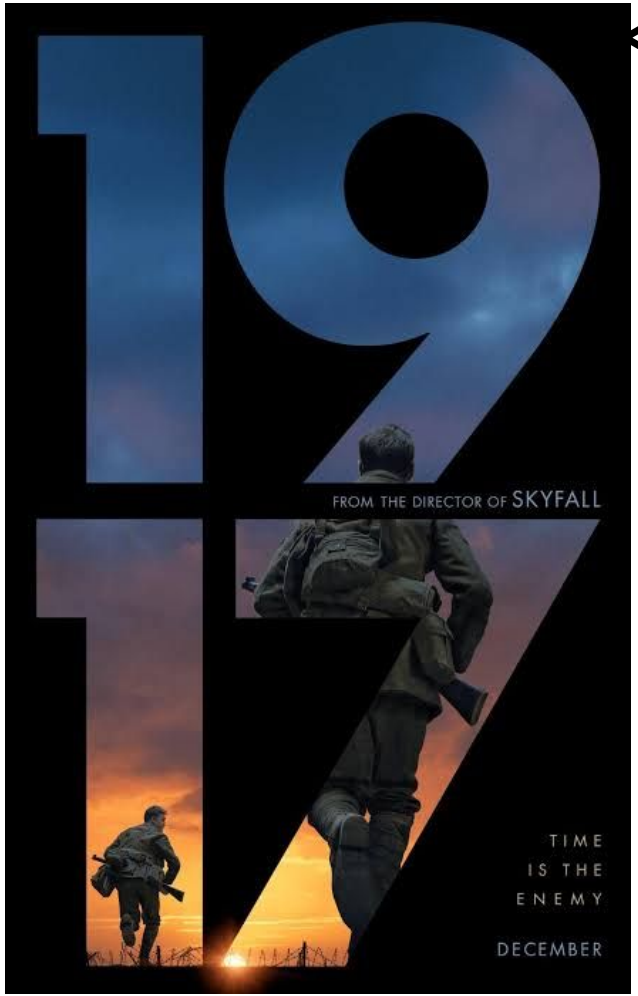

It helps visitors find the information they want.

Information check

How does your highlighted feature help someone learn or find an answer?

Checkpoint

<1:30->>

Entertainment

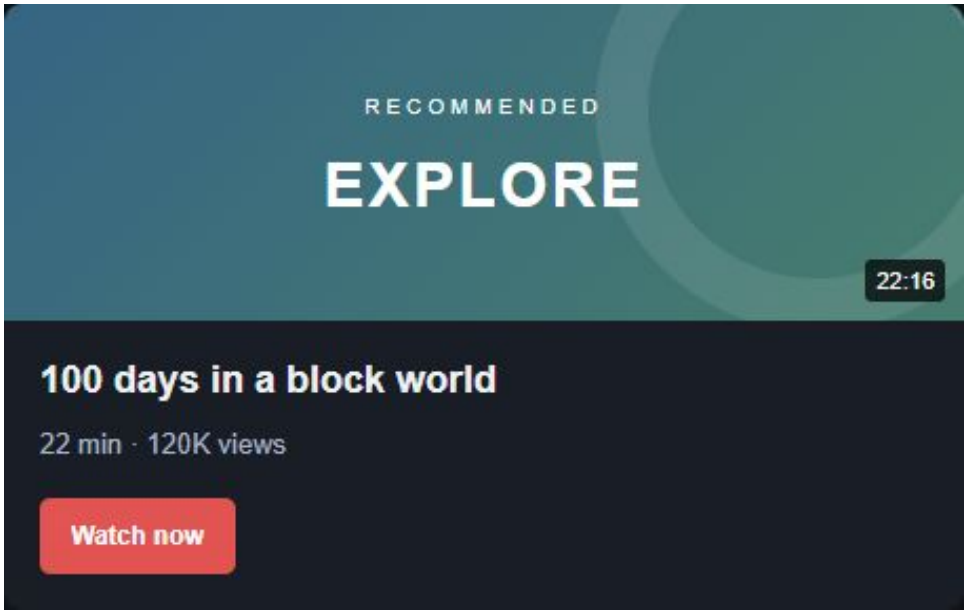

Purpose: enjoy an experience

Examples: video, music, and browser-game websites

Entertainment design <<0:00+>>

A title and preview are Content.

They help visitors choose something to watch.

Entertainment check

<<0:00+>>

Which feature encourages visitors to keep exploring?
How does it work?

Checkpoint

<<1:30->>

Sales

Purpose: buy a product or service

Examples: online shops and ticket websites

Sales design

Prices and reviews are Content.

They help visitors compare options before buying.

<<0:00+>>

Sales check

Which feature would help a customer decide to buy?
Why?

More than one purpose

<<0:00+>>

A video site may sell subscriptions.
A shop may publish a helpful guide.

Which goal does most of the design support?

Primary and secondary

<<0:00+>>

Primary: the main goal
Secondary: an additional goal

Both claims need design evidence.

Questions?

<<0:00+>>

Checkpoint

<<1:30->>

Website investigation <<0:00+>>

What is your assigned site’s primary purpose? Which design choices provide the strongest evidence?

A strong explanation

<<0:00+>>

“It is sales because it has products.”

Which feature? Which CSSA category?
How does it help someone buy?

Evidence you can defend

<<0:00+>>

Annotation #4 shows the price and reviews. These Content choices help visitors compare products and decide what to buy.

Checkpoint

<<1:30->>

Discussion

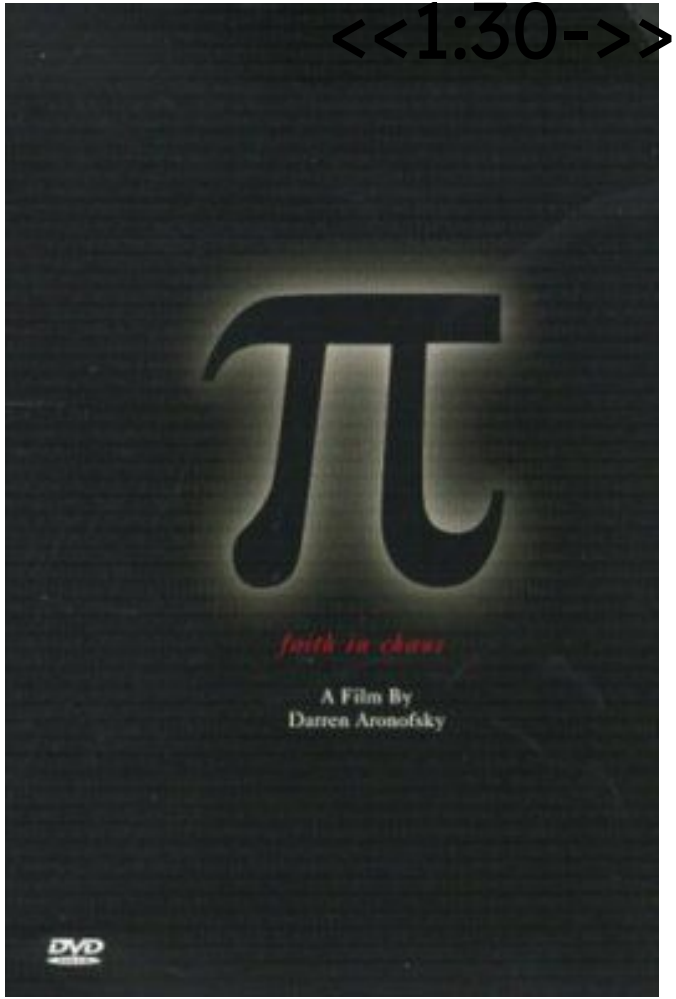

<<0:00+>>

Which piece of evidence best supports your table's claim?

Show the feature. Explain how it helps the site achieve its purpose.

Checkpoint

<<1:30->>

<<0:00+>>

The big idea

CSSA tells us what goes into designing a website.

Purpose tells us why designers make those choices.

Same feature, different goals

<<0:00+>>

An article. A video. A product.

The search bar is similar.
The visitor’s goal is different.

Accessibility and purpose <<0:00+>>

Captions help more people enjoy a video. Image descriptions help more people understand an image.

Exit Ticket

<<0:00+>>

Wikipedia and Amazon both use search bars.

How does the same feature help each website achieve a different purpose?

Submit

Download your complete work.
Attach it where your teacher directs.
Keep your copy until receipt is confirmed.